

2011 RCC so far this year.

With the moon being at its closest for nearly twenty years, and combined with high pressure, tides were at all time lows.

At Davis's boat yard the boats on the even side were holding up the pontoon, something I have not seen before in the eight years of berthing there.

Peter inspects crow damage, theory suggests that having "White" wind indicators is less appealing to the crow family than "Black"

The season has taken some by surprise, not every body has their boat ready. Where did all this sunshine come from?

Still the crews from "WindRush", Gooseberry", & "Giorsal" Managed to meet up for a picnic.

The new Commodore of Redclyffe Yacht Club welcomed all the new commodores in the Dorset & Hampshire area to Redclyffe's lovely annual party.

Once again Redclyffe excelled themselves with the food, wine, and friendly atmosphere.
